BECAUSE ALCOHOL
TASTES BETTER THAN TEARS.

A photograph of a dried flower arrangement. The arrangement consists of several thin, brown, woody stems of varying heights, each topped with a single, dried, cream-colored flower head. The stems are inserted into a white ceramic vase that has a distressed, rustic finish with dark, irregular markings. The vase sits on a light-colored surface. In the background, a portion of a wooden chair with a woven cane back is visible on the right. The overall lighting is soft and even, highlighting the textures of the dried flowers and the ceramic vase.
